Dear Pr Gil,

Please allow me to introduce myself and recommend Dr Marie P., a fellow in our cardiology program, as a research fellow to your program at St Thomas'Hospital. I am the chairman of the Department of Cardiology, at the French Academic Hospital of Paris. I trained at Bordeaux University by R. M.D., PhD. and I moved to Paris to finish my training.

I have known Dr Marie P. for four years, since he began his residency in my department. He has successfully completed his rotations in internist medicine and has become a valued member of my team. Along with his fellow, Dr Marie P. manages the inpatients and ambulatory care of the cardiology department, along with emergencies and call at our 3 hospitals.

Dr Marie has already developed excellent clinical judgment and surgical technique. I operate with her assistance on a weekly basis and her presence in the operating room is welcomed by all of her co-workers. She is diligent and conscientious, always willing to learn, participate and help however she can. She manages complications in a clear-headed, step-wise fashion. She is systematic in her presentations during staff meetings and doesn't hesitate to ask questions and share her opinions.

Her interests in translational research should mesh with your current research scope and I have no doubt that Dr Marie P. will bring her enthusiasm and competence to good use at your program.

Please, do not hesitate to email me if you require further information.

Sincerely,

Pr X.
